T&K SOLAR ELECTRICITY PANELS ON YOUR ROOF

IS THIS YOUR LAST CHANCE TO EARN A GENUINE 17% RETURN ON INVESTMENT & EARN OVER 60,000 TAX FREE?

STOP PRESS:

T&K Solar have only 10 installation slots remaining to beat 3 March 2012 deadline. This is your last opportunity to take advantage of the higher rate Government guaranteed tax free payments.

But you do need to act quickly.
To have an opportunity of making these substantial and safe returns, you need to commit to a T&K Solar PV System no later than 5pm on Monday 27 February 2012, so we can install and commission your System before the 3 March deadline.
AND THERE ARE ONLY 10 INSTALLATION SLOTS REMAINING

In addition, from 1 April 2012, the Government are making it mandatory for all homes to have an Energy Rating Assessment of C or above, and most homes do not reach this level. As a result you may need to carry out other costly home improvements before you will be eligible to apply for the Feed-In Tariff.

You can save up to 18% of your electricity bill, and further increase your Return On Investment, by ordering a Voltis Home Unit with your T&K Solar PV System, available at a half-price fully installed cost of only £400, (subject to site survey).

So please act as quickly as possible.
Call T&K Solar on 0800 285 1992 for an immediate free no-obligation Assessment and Return On Investment Calculation.
Opportunities like this tend to happen only once in a lifetime.

1 You may be aware that the Government guaranteed payments, the Feed-In Tariff, were recently reduced from £0.43 to £0.21 for each unit of electricity your Solar PV System actually produces.

2 This Tariff reduction has been challenged in the High Court and the cut was considered unlawful.

3 As a result, any homeowner who has a Solar PV System installed by 3 March 2012 may still qualify for the higher guaranteed rate, which is tax free, indexed linked and guaranteed by the Government for the next 25 years.

YOU NEED TO ACT
BEFORE 5PM
ON MONDAY
27 FEBRUARY 2012

4 What this means is that you can still take advantage of a potential (subject to the Supreme Court appeal) and one-off 17% Return On Investment, while benefitting from a payback on your original investment of less than 5 years.

5 On a typical 4 kW, 16- panel system, for an investment of £10,375, your annual income would be £1,772, and the earnings you would receive over the 25 year period would be a staggering £60,696.

Support Cobblers and help charity

MORE than 5,000 football fans are expected to pack the stands at Sixfields on Saturday as Northampton people back their local football team and our sister newspaper's charity appeal.

Tickets for the League Two club's weekend clash against Port Vale are being sold at a discounted rate of only £10 for adults and £5 for children.

And 40 per cent of the ticket price will go towards the Chronicle & Echo and Macmillan Cancer Support's appeal to raise £1.5 million for a new blood cancer unit at Northampton General Hospital.

The same offer was available for Tuesday night's 3-2 win over Macclesfield Town, when more than 4,500 home fans braved a chilly midweek night to see Aidy Boothroyd's men grab a vital three points in their fight against relegation.

Club spokesman Gareth Willsher said the club had been delighted with ticket sales for both the Macclesfield game, and its match against Port Vale this Saturday.

Speaking before Tuesday's game, he said: "The Macclesfield game is certainly busier than it would otherwise have been expected to be, and our Saturday sales are very encouraging ahead of the game."

Tickets are available by calling the Cobblers box office on Northampton 683777 or visiting the website www.cobblers2cancer.co.uk.

They can also be bought on the gate on the day.

Northampton Town and Macclesfield Town players wore Macmillan T-shirts before their League Two clash at Sixfields on Tuesday night

Cuts demo at the Guildhall

CAMPAIGNERS have urged the public to join a demonstration outside the Guildhall at 6pm next Wednesday against planned cuts to Northampton Borough Council services.

The action, ahead of a meeting to vote through the cuts, will follow a similar demonstration at County Hall taking place this morning, and is being organised by Northampton Alliance to Defend Services and Northampton Trades Council (NTUC).

Sarah Ansell, secretary of the NTUC, said: "The borough council will be cutting posts and is proposing to increase charges for housing tenants."

"Not only do these cuts from both councils harm services and attack vulnerable people, but they also damage the local economy through higher unemployment, loss of tax revenue and by reducing growth."

Arson attack at restaurant

DETECTIVES are hunting an arsonist who is believed to have attempted to set fire to a restaurant in Wellingborough Road, Northampton.

Firefighters were called to The Stuffed Olive at around 3.45am on Tuesday, after an out-building and part of the kitchen became engulfed in flames.

A police spokesman said: "The fire was located in the kitchen area and store room area of the restaurant."

"It is believed to be deliberate."

The restaurant was yesterday open for business as usual.

Haircuts raise cash

PUPILS at Pitsford Junior School have raised £160 for CLIC Sargent from a Funky Hair Day. The pupils raised money by turning up to school with imaginative and creative haircuts. The winning style belonged to Eve Dhaliwal-Shirreff who had a Lady Ga-Ga inspired creation involving cans of Coca Cola. The money will be used by the charity to buy books for children under 10 to help them understand their illness and treatment and will also help families to take holidays in one of the CLIC Sargent holiday homes.

Cut your 2013 tax bill

MORE than 4,800 Northamptonshire-based businesses are being urged to act now to reduce their January 2013 tax bill. Figures obtained from Companies House show March is the most popular month nationally for companies to choose as their year-end. Northamptonshire has more than 22,000 registered companies and many of them will submit their annual accounts this March and calculate their bill for Corporation Tax.

Book fest goes online

YOUNGSTERS in Northampton will be able to take part in the country's first online children's book festival on Thursday, March 1. Jacqueline Wilson and Children's Laureate Julia Donaldson, are two of the authors taking part in a series of performances available to view at www.worldbookday.com.

Fashion in fund-raiser

A TEAM of Alzheimer's Society volunteers are organising a fund-raising charity fashion show at House of Fraser in the Grosvenor Shopping Centre on February 29. The show will include three sets of fashion - casual, smart and a finale of occasional wear. There will be luxury raffle prizes including restaurant tickets and an auction. Tickets cost £8. Call Naomi Sullivan on 07525 731739.

Activities celebrate 200 years of Grimm

A RANGE of interactive workshops and fairytale performances have taken place at the Royal & Derngate to mark the 200th anniversary of the publication of Grimm's Fairy Tales.

There was a number of themed play areas and a variety of craft activities stationed around the theatre building, which families joined in with free of charge.

The areas were designed by Ellie Davies and Laura Hollowell, who created the Wonderland installation that was seen in the Royal's Underground foyer during the run of Alice in Wonderland this Christmas.

The event also included a storytelling performance and a family workshop.

New greyhound track could get the go-ahead

PLANS to build a major greyhound track in Northamptonshire look set to be approved by officials, despite an international campaign against the scheme.

The owners of Towcester Racecourse revealed plans to build "the country's premiere greyhound track" in October last year.

It is estimated the development would create more than 80 jobs and attract large numbers of visitors to the county.

But more than 1,300 people from across the world have signed a petition against the development because they oppose greyhound racing on ethical grounds.

A further 30 people from France, five from Belgium and others from Switzerland and The Philippines have also written to South Northamptonshire Council, calling on the authority to block the development. But when members of the council's planning committee meet next week, they are expected to give the scheme the green light.

In a report which will be seen by councillors, Maria Philpott from the council's planning department said concerns about animal welfare could not stop the development being given planning permission.

She said: "While accepting that the proposed greyhound racing track is sensitive and controversial, it is not within the remit of planning legislation to consider the merits of such a proposal on welfare or ethical grounds."

As well as the people who objected to the development for ethical reasons, a number of local residents also raised concerns about the impact it would have on traffic and noise in the area.

But recommending the scheme should be given the go ahead, Miss Philpott argued that it would bring significant benefits to the county.

She said: "The proposal will provide additional recreation and leisure facilities at Towcester Racecourse that will help to secure its long term viability and bring additional economic benefits to Towcester and the wider district."

If the plan is approved, the greyhound track would be used every Saturday from 6pm until 11.15pm.

The council's planning committee will meet in Towcester today to decide if the plan should go ahead.

Northampton General Hospital has carried out £3m more in treatments than expected in the last year

NHS spends £19m not predicted

NHS managers could have to dip into emergency funds to cover a spend on Northamptonshire hospital patients of almost £19 million more than expected.

Figures show A&E consultations and subsequent stays on wards, as well as unconnected follow-up appointments, have all seen thousands more cases than health bosses expected.

At NGH alone, it has resulted in £3 million worth of extra treatment being carried out in the last year than was forecast.

Moya McVicar, of the patient watchdog Northamptonshire LINK, said: "The trouble is the predictions of how many patients doctors and nurses will deal with are based on census figures that are about nine years out of date."

"If you think how much the town must have changed in that time, it's no wonder they are getting it wrong.

"Additionally, we've also had no let-up in emergency cases last spring and summer and that all builds up."

"I don't think NGH has the capacity to cope with the level of admissions it is getting and these figures seem to reflect that."

The latest NHS Northamptonshire board papers show that in December 2011, NGH was £1.9 million over budget and Kettering General was £4.5 million over budget.

There was also £10.3 million more than expected spent on specialist care for county patients at hospitals outside of Northamptonshire, for example dealing with brain injuries following car accidents.

Some of that figure is also accounted for by patients choosing to be treated under the NHS but at private hospitals, a legal right instituted in April 2009.

Golf course plan for holiday apartments

A NEW golf shop as well as 15 golf holiday apartments could soon be built at a golf course in Northamptonshire.

Plans for the development would see the facilities built at the Whitebury Park Golf and Country Club, near Silverstone.

In a report which will be seen by members of South Northamptonshire Council's planning committee next week, council planning expert, Robert Fallon, said the development would help boost the local economy.

Recommending that councillors should back the development, he said: "There is a clear link to the existing golf club and the investment in this accommodation should help the viability of this existing facility and attraction."

Members of South Northamptonshire Council's planning committee will make a final decision next week.

The councillors will meet at the council's headquarters in Towcester from 2.15pm on Thursday.

Horse show for WNAA

A HORSE show at Moulton College next month will benefit the Warwickshire and Northamptonshire Air Ambulance. The Easter Showing Extravaganza, on Sunday, March 4, will feature in-hand, ridden and novelty classes, including an Easter-themed fancy dress class, as well as a cake stand and tombola. In-hand showing costs £5 per class, or £4 for novelty classes. These will start at 9am. Ridden showing starts at 2pm, and costs £8 per class. For a full show schedule, visit www.moulton.ac.uk. For more information email enquiries@moulton.ac.uk

Tribute to The Beatles

THE Bootleg Beatles will perform at Royal and Derngate theatre in Northampton next month as part of a nationwide tour to mark the 50th anniversary of the Fab Four's radio debut. The group will perform authentic renditions of the greatest songs from the Beatles back catalogue, accompanied by an orchestra, including some hits the band never performed live. Tickets for the show on Tuesday, March 27, cost £26. To book, call the theatre box office on Northampton 624811.

One man Dickens

A PERFORMANCE of 'Twist,' inspired by Charles Dickens, will take place again at Long Buckby Library after the first event sold out. Northampton-based actor James Hornsby performs the one-man show, which re-creates Dickens' public readings. The show will take place on Thursday, March 8 at 7.30pm. Tickets cost £5. To book call 01327 842796.

Bidding for big prizes

A LONDON theatre break, a golf day and an electric guitar are among the items being put up at a charity auction for Warwickshire and Northamptonshire Air Ambulance next month. The auction will be held at 7.30pm on Saturday, March 3, at Kettering General Hospital. Entry and a meal is £15. For details, call 07793 059043.

Angelique Davies, Will Wright and Jane Shepherd with Toby the cat at The Algoner Trust Animal Sanctuary

Food delivery for rescued animals

AN ANIMAL shelter that is seeing record numbers of animals has received a boost after taking a mammoth delivery of food.

International animal charity Four Paws has donated hundreds of tins of cat food to The Algoner Trust Animal Sanctuary, at Linspire Farm, in Whittlebury.

Every week the trust takes in stray or abandoned animals in need of help.

Jane Shepherd, who runs the trust, said: "I am so grateful for this amazing gift of cat food. Times are hard: I have taken in more animals in the last 12 months than ever before."

The donation, made with the help of Sanctuary Angels, will mean more funds can be spent on necessities other than food.

Angelique Davies, head of programmes at Four Paws, said: "The staff at Algoner work endlessly to protect and rescue animals every day."

People who are able to donate blankets, towels, food or bedding, or who might be interested in rehoming an animal, can contact the trust via www.algonertrust.org.uk

Success of youngsters celebrated

THE successes of Northamptonshire children and young people have been recognised at an awards ceremony.

Young people in the county helped organise the event at Wicksteed Park, Kettering, to showcase the personal achievements of their peers.

The teenagers and younger children were nominated by professionals working with them through education, social care or youth work provisions.

Alistair Bassett, aged 14, of West Hunsbury, Northampton, won the individual Contribution to Anti-Bullying Award.

Alistair, a founding member of Campaign School's anti-bullying group, said: "I am overwhelmed. I wasn't expecting to win the award because all of us in our group work together and some of them worked really hard. I'm really proud. We were the first school in the county to win the anti-bullying award. Lots of schools wanted to know what we did so we put together a DVD. In the group we are working with people from Year 7 to Year 13. You know you have made an impact which makes it worthwhile."

Georgina Thomas-Lord, 17, of Towcester, won the community-based Young Person of the Year award for contributing about 500 hours of her time to volunteer at Vision Youth Cafe.

She said: "I'm very shocked to win but extremely happy. I'm a volunteer youth worker and am there to talk to young people about sexual health. If a young person wants to talk to me about stuff like that I then can refer them to the NHS."

PATIENTS at Northampton General Hospital have been left without the use of a bedside TV, internet and telephone system while a new system is installed.

The hospital is currently a third of the way through an installation programme that will see all wards equipped with more modern facilities, including internet, email and films on demand.

Nine wards have been fitted with the new equipment supplied by a company called Hospedia but the remaining 16 wards are currently without any TV, internet or telephone service.

A spokesman for Northampton General Hospital said the new equipment was scheduled to be installed on all the wards by March 16.

The spokesman said: "The old system was nearing the end of its life, with many of the units becoming unserviceable and unable to be used."

"We now have a new supplier called Hospedia, which is currently a third of the way through an installation programme that will see all wards equipped with more modern facilities, including internet, email and films on demand."

"Regrettably it does mean that wards yet to be installed with the new equipment are currently without a TV system, and we apologise to patients who may be disappointed by this."

"The new screens will provide a much enhanced service compared with what was previously available, and for the duration of the rollout the new Hospedia system will provide free TV and telephone calls for all users."

Northampton Borough and County Councillor Mike Hallam (Con, Parklands) said he had written to the chief executive of the Northampton General Hospital to ask for clarification on why the TV, internet and telephone system was unavailable.

Councillor Hallam said: "When people are bed-ridden and don't have much to do, the loss of the TV, internet and telephone network could leave them feeling isolated."

Drink drivers caught four times above the legal limit

ROAD safety campaigners have described figures which show more than 120 people in the county were caught driving while more than four times the legal limit during the past three years as "shocking".

Data obtained under a Freedom of Information request to Northamptonshire Police shows 127 people were breathalysed with a reading of above 140mg of alcohol in 100ml of breath between 2009 and 2011. The legal limit is 35mg.

The highest figures recorded over that period range from just under five times the legal limit to more than five-and-a-half times the limit.

Richard Coteau, from road safety charity Brake, labelled the numbers "shocking". He said: "Our message is drinking any amount of alcohol before driving is unacceptable, and causes needless preventable deaths on our roads.

"These statistics show a shocking number of drivers are wilfully taking huge risks with their lives and the lives of others, while driving under the influence of large amounts of alcohol."

Sue Jackson, of accident victims' charity RoadPeace, said she believed the figures reflected a rise in the number of people turning to alcohol to cope with crises in their lives, like losing their jobs and homes, or money worries.

She said: "I work as an NHS counsellor and I have seen a rise in short-term crises in people's lives. One of the escapes for these is to drink."

Insp Nigel Rickaby said the figures reflected a wider picture where about 100 people per month were caught driving in the county while over the limit. He warned offenders the consequences of drink-driving could be worse if people were caught so far over the limit, but stressed no amount of alcohol was safe for motorists.

He said: "When people choose to excessively drink that is their personal decision and they have to accept the consequences if they choose to drive a vehicle. The courts will take into account people who are over the legal limit, and the higher over the limit they are, the more that will be reflected in the sentence."

"The message I want to get out there is just don't drink and drive," he added. "It's illegal and it's not worth the risk. Drink-driving can have consequences for the individual, their wider family and other members of the public. It could lead to imprisonment, conviction, and affect their mortgage, employment, children's schooling – all for the sake of a couple of drinks."

Learners shown reality of crashes

LEARNER drivers in Northampton have been given a hard-hitting presentation about the tragic consequences of road accidents as part of a pilot being run by the fire service and a driving school.

The first of the presentations, which include graphic photos of real-life road traffic accidents in Northamptonshire, was given to learners at Mereway Fire Station as part of a drive to tackle road deaths.

The programme is currently being run as a pilot between Northamptonshire Fire and Rescue and One L of a Driving School, based in Northampton.

Drivers have been given the option of attending the presentation and fire chiefs hope to extend the programme into dozens more driving schools over the coming months.

Steve Parr, casualty reduction officer, said the hour-long session contained some potentially upsetting footage of crashes, but stressed it showed the "reality" of accidents.

He said: "The reality of a car crash is it is not fluffy and nice. But the idea is not to put people off driving, it is show people that if things do go wrong then it can change your life and your family's lives."

He said the idea was hatched during discussions with the driving school at a recent freshers fair, held at The University of Northampton. He added: "Hopefully we will get more and more schools involved. They will then bring their students and hopefully understand why the decisions they make, whether it is using a mobile phone, drink driving, not wearing a seat-belt or speeding, can impact on their lives.

"A lot of people sit through the presentation in stunned silence and most people don't like what they see. But a little bit of discomfort now might make you make the right decision."

Jill Bartlam, owner of One L of a Driving School, said: "It is quite hard hitting and it is quite graphic in places but I think it really does bring home to them what can happen. We are happy to be part of a safer driver campaign and we are just happy to get as many people as possible to see it."

Church launches bid to pay for roof

A CHURCH has launched an urgent appeal for tens of thousands of pounds to restore its leaking roof and halt the threat to church services and local community groups.

St Francis Church in Duston currently uses buckets to cope with the water dripping into the main congregation area and into the community hall – but the damaged roof will not last much longer.

Team vicar, the Rev Heather Wilson, said the first stage of the repairs would cost £30,000 and ensure the community hall was fit for use, followed by a second stage of at least a further £30,000 which would ensure the entire building was once again protected from rainfall.

Ms Wilson said: "It's been possible in the past to patch up the roof but there is nothing left to patch any more, we need a completely new roof."

"The first stage of the roof repairs are urgent, because it covers an area that the whole community uses, not just the church."

"We want that area done first so community groups can continue using the hall without worry."

"We can put up with using buckets during our church services for the moment."

"When the snow melted we had a lot of rain coming through the roof and knew the situation was urgent. We have plenty of water we'd rather not have, so anyone is welcome to buckets of it."

Discussions with architects and construction companies about the restoration works to the flat roof have started, and it is hoped the first stage will start in the next three months.

The church will use its £20,000 contingency fund and has already received a further £4,000 in donations.

The church committee is awaiting responses from a number of grant schemes and has a number of planned fund-raising events.

A table top sale will be held at the church on March 10 and on Tuesday, April 3 The Cantare Singers will perform at the church.

Family's thanks to charity

THE family of a 10-year-old girl who suffered an allergic reaction that left her unable to walk for two months have raised £1,600 for the Red Cross in Northampton to buy eight new wheelchairs.

Chloe Pickering was eight when she suffered from Henoch-Schönlein purpura (HSP), a reaction that caused swelling and arthritis to attack her joints, making moving very painful.

Chloe, a pupil at Hunsbury Park Primary School, was able to borrow a wheelchair thanks to the Red Cross's countywide dial-a-wheelchair service, which loans chairs to people recovering from injury or illness.

Chloe said: "It helped me very much because I could do what I wanted, play with my friends, go to school and go to clubs. I'd have been stuck at home without it."

Chloe's parents, Tony and Katrina, raised £1,600 through donations from the Mason's Kingsley Lodge, in Northampton, of which Mr Pickering is a member, Brixworth Masonic Dining Club and the Masonic Province of Northamptonshire.

The family, including Chloe's brother Luke, 11, yesterday handed a cheque to the Red Cross at its office in Moulton Park.

Mrs Pickering, aged 44, said: "We just thought it was a way of saying thank you for the help."

The family, of Floribunda Drive, Briar Hill, are encouraging people to support the charity's ongoing Big Wheel Appeal, which aims to raise £16,000 to buy 80 new wheelchairs.

Mr Pickering, aged 49, said: "When Chloe found walking particularly painful, the wheelchair meant she didn't miss out on school, family activities, seeing her friends or going on the annual Brownie trip."

Nearly two years on, Chloe has made a full recovery and even won county medals for her gymnastics skills.

Justin Prescott, the dial-a-wheelchair service co-ordinator, said: "The need is increasing, especially during summer months when people are out and about more. We often have a waiting list."

Gallery is back open

THE Avenue Gallery at The University of Northampton has reopened after an extended Christmas break with an exhibition of new photographic work by John Harper.

Mr Harper, who is an Associate Fellow in Fine Art at the university has opened a new exhibition called Drawn From Rock, which comprises large-scale photo-collages derived from location work in North Wales.

The exhibition will run until March 9 and is open to the public Mondays to Fridays, 10am until 4pm.

Admission is free. Mr Harper said: "I use the title 'Drawn from Rock' in almost literal terms - in that each work results from the fragmentation and re-formation of rock features from numerous locations to make works that take on the appearance of large gestural drawings but which are very complex photo-digital constructs."

Railway police's probe on gay slur

A RAIL passenger who yelled homophobic abuse to a man at a train station following a journey from Northampton is being sought by police.

British Transport Police released these CCTV images of a distinctively-dressed man they want to speak to over the alleged hate crime, which officers said left the victim shaken. They believe the suspect boarded the 4.20pm train to Birmingham at Northampton station at the same time as the 30-year-old victim and his friend.

All three got off at Birmingham New Street at about 5.20pm when a man approached the victim and allegedly began shouting homophobic abuse at him. The pair tried to walk away but were pursued by the man who continued to insult the victim.

Police said they want to speak to the man captured on CCTV at Birmingham New Street as they believe he has information that can assist the investigation.

They also appealed for anyone who witnessed the alleged abuse, which happened on Monday, February 6, on platform three, to come forward.

Pc Jas Bathal, investigating officer for the British Transport Police, said: "As the victim and his friends made their way towards the station exit, the offender continues to shout homophobic remarks towards the victim, leaving both the victim and his friend visibly shaken by the man's unprovoked comments."

"This type of behaviour is offensive and intimidating and has absolutely no place on the rail network. Homophobic abuse will simply not be tolerated and I am determined to identify the person responsible and bring him to justice."

"But I need help from the public. If you witnessed the incident, or if you know the identity of the man in these photographs, please call British Transport Police."

Call police on 0800 40 50 40, quoting B4/WWA of 14/02/2012.

Members of gym get in a spin for hospice

A GYM will hold a 12-hour spin-a-thon for a Northampton hospice.

Staff at Top Notch Health Club in Sol Central, Northampton, will host hour-long spin classes for members and non-members from 8am until 8pm on March 3.

The spin-a-thon - which is open to members for a minimum donation of £2, and non-members for £10 - will raise money for Cynthia Spencer Hospice.

Non-members participating will be able to use the rest of the gym facilities for free on that day. All participants can enter a raffle to win signed Saints and Cobblers merchandise, and restaurant vouchers.

To book call Northampton 630610. To donate visit www.justgiving.com/topnotchspinathon.

Cancer survivor is ready to race

A MUM-of-two who survived cancer is urging people to join her at the annual Race for Life event being held in Northampton this summer.

Emma Freeman, 36, was diagnosed with breast cancer in 2009, despite having originally been told that her symptoms were probably down to depression.

After a double mastectomy, chemotherapy and radiotherapy, sporty Emma has exercised her way back to health and plans to run the 10k Race for Life event only nine months after undergoing reconstructive surgery.

"I was inconsolable when I was diagnosed with cancer," she said. "The worst thing was that my children were so young."

"Lily was only two and I couldn't even pick her up and cuddle her after my surgery."

Emma's daughter, now aged four, and son Harvey, seven, will join her at the big event on Sunday, June 17, at Abington Park, Northampton.

Emma added: "Once I had had my reconstructive surgery in September last year, I worked really hard to get back to full health and I'm now running and going to the gym again."

"It feels great. I can't wait to take part in Race for Life because it is really important to me to say thank you for the research that saved my life."

Emma Freeman who will be running the Race for Life this year after winning her battle with cancer. Pictured with her two children Lily, aged 4 and Harvey, aged 7

Cancer Research UK's Race for Life, in partnership with Tesco, is a women-only series of events, which raises millions of pounds every year for life-saving research into 200 types of cancer.

Women can choose whether to walk, jog or run the 5k or 10k route.

In 2011, 5,300 women took part in Race for Life in Northamptonshire and helped raise a fantastic £324,000.

To enter Race for Life 5k or 10k, visit www.raceforlife.org or call 0871 641 1111.

Hospital backing feedback website

A WEBSITE which allows patients to review their experience of Northampton General Hospital has revealed that less than half of visitors would recommend its services.

But the feedback has been welcomed by the hospital who said it helped them to improve care.

National research into the NHS Choices site, similar to the holiday review site TripAdvisor, shows patients are accurately reflecting the cleanliness and care provided in hospitals in their reviews, when compared with annual death and infection rates.

The recent study by academics at Imperial College London has been welcomed by the Government this week which said patient feedback could be 'even more valuable than previously thought'.

Fiona Barnes, NGH director of nursing, midwifery and patient services, said: "We regularly monitor and respond to comments about NGH posted on to the NHS Choices website, and take action where necessary.

"We welcome all feedback – whether positive or negative – and the website is just one way of enabling patients to let us know their views.

"We're committed to continually improving the services we provide, and so we're happy to hear feedback in whatever form people feel comfortable in using.

"The more specific and immediate the feedback, the more useful it is to us.

"We do get a lot of positive comments too, and of course we really appreciate it when people get in touch to say how satisfied they were, as this gives a real morale boost to our staff."

The site, which allows users to detail their recent experience, shows that 45 per cent of reviewers would recommend the hospital.

Ministers launched the NHS Choices website three years ago.

Ms Barnes added that alongside the website, the hospital recommends patients or relatives speak to the sister or matron in charge at the time to enable staff to correct the issue more promptly.

Feedback can also be given to the patient advice and liaison service on Northampton 545784 or pals@ngh.nhs.uk

Drought worry for county's farmers

FARMERS are bracing themselves for a run of bad seasons as the drought continues in Northamptonshire, with poor prospects of imminent rainfall.

Concern is increasing among the farming and growing industry after months of drastically low rainfall conditions which have not been seen since 1921.

The Environment Agency this week warned of a very real threat of water restrictions to be imposed on residents in the county this summer.

But it will be farmers across Northamptonshire that will feel the financial cost of the drought.

Although no farms in the county use irrigation, and therefore would not be affected by any possible restrictions, the strain on water resources could mean damaged crops and high price of animals.

Richard Houghton, the Northamptonshire chairman of the National Farmer's Union, who runs a mixed farm in Yardley Hastings, said the effects had already been felt by the industry over the autumn, when farmers needed more power and fuel to turn the hard, dry ground.

He added it will now affect the spring season: "Knowing that there is no water reserves in the

Richard Houghton, chairman of the Northamptonshire branch of the National Farmers' Union, is concerned at water shortages in the county ground means we have to exercise caution.

"It will be a very hard spring if this prolonged period of dry weather continues, it will reduce the yields and affect what people will plant.

"It may mean that the planting is delayed to May or June and we lose out on a few months, which could affect the next planting season. The grass won't grow as well which will affect the feeding of livestock.

"There are many impacts and obviously this all has an initial financial effect.

"There is concern at how things will turn out, but farmers in Britain are used to having to make the best out of what we have."

The region is in its first drought since 1996 and the Environment Agency has urged residents to carefully consider their water usage.

Medal for police officer in Afghan gun fight escape

A HIGHLY-coveted medal has been presented to a police officer from Northamptonshire who helped 230 people to safety when a building came under gun fire in Afghanistan.

Det Chief Insp Ally Wright is currently seconded to the European Police Mission (EUPOL) in Kabul, where he is heading an international programme to train local police officers.

In September, the EUPOL HQ came under indirect attack from insurgents who used rocket-propelled grenades and automatic firearms to attack nearby buildings.

DCI Wright, from Woodford Halse, helped lead the 230 men and women working at EUPOL to a bunker as the insurgents, based only 600 yards away, continued their onslaught.

The fighting went on for 14 hours in what has been described as a "serious, life threatening, hostile war environment" which included relentless explosions and the sound of automatic gun-

Det Chief Insp Ally Wright, from Woodford Halse, has been honoured for his life-saving actions while on secondment in Afghanistan fire overhead.

Inside the bunker, DCI Wright helped to make prayer rooms, sanitation, medical facilities and emergency rations available for those inside.

He also helped to keep the workforce informed and updated about what was happening outside throughout the attack, despite a multitude of different languages being spoken by the representatives of 23 different countries.

The attack eventually came to an end when members of the Special Forces killed nine insurgents. During the attack 40 people were killed and a large number injured.

DCI Wright received a prestigious Silver Medal from the head of the EUPOL policing mission for his outstanding leadership during the attack.

He said: "I had just sat down to start a meeting when I heard gunfire followed by a massive explosion. I cannot begin to explain in words how loud the noise was."

"Not only could I hear the noise I could see missiles flying over our heads. At some points I had to grab Afghan nationals from their office and push them in the direction of the bunker."

"Inside the bunker I could see people were terrified. The Afghan women in particular were shaking, some were in tears."

DCI Wright, who works for Warwickshire Police, will be returning to the UK next week to receive a special commendation.

The sunset years

ADAPTED from Deborah Moggach's novel These Foolish Things, The Best Exotic Marigold Hotel is a hilarious and touching comedy about growing old disgracefully.

Ol Parker's warm and witty script provides the predominantly British cast with moments to shine and tug our heartstrings as love is lost and found beneath a foreign sun.

Director John Madden, who previously helmed the Oscar-winning Shakespeare In Love, captures a different side to life in modern India than the poverty and crime of Slumdog Millionaire.

The teeming streets of Rajasthan burst with colour and vitality and composer Thomas Newman adds plenty of spice with his score.

Performances are an embarrassment of riches, from Maggie Smith's racist housekeeper, who surveys a black nurse at her local hospital and sneers, "He can wash all he likes - that colour's not coming out", to Penelope Wilton's well-to-do wife, who constantly belittles her husband, telling him, "When I want your opinion, I'll give it to you."

Our opinion of Madden's film is extremely favourable. Evelyn (Judi Dench) has recently lost her husband and is coming to terms with solitude in her twilight years.

Determined to start anew, she abandons Britain for the balmy climes of Jaipur and a grand retirement home called The Best Exotic Marigold Hotel.

En route, Evelyn meets six other retirees all bound for this "luxury development for residents in their golden years": cantankerous wheelchair user Muriel (Smith), who is bypassing the NHS waiting lists to undergo a hip replacement abroad; waspish snob Jean (Wilton) and her long-suffering husband Douglas (Bill Nighy); retired judge Graham (Tom Wilkinson); incorrigible ladies' man Norman (Ronald Pickup); and love-hungry spinster Madge (Celia Imrie).

When the exhausted travellers arrive at their destination, they discover a building in disrepair and an inexperienced manager, Sonny (Dev Patel), struggling to keep the creditors off his back.

The Best Exotic Marigold Hotel is a delight, milking laughter and tears as characters reach crossroads in their lives. Like The King's Speech, it's a film with appeal across the generations, tapping into universal fears of being forgotten in old age.

Dench is the emotional heart, narrating drolly in voiceover, while Wilkinson delivers a beautifully nuanced performance as a man with heartbreaking ties to India. Imrie and Pickup are delicious comic relief. Smith is in imperious form as a xenophobic working-class battle-axe. Age hasn't dulled her rapier wit.

REVIEW BY
IAN DONALDSON

Moving up an octave

IT'S too easy to spend £20,000 on a modest new car these days, so a mildly immodest one at the same price ought to be worth a look.

Step forward the speediest Skoda you can buy in the spacious shape of the Octavia vRS, easily capable of 150mph with a gentle following breeze.

Actually, Skoda last year built a quicker one – it topped an extraordinary 227mph on a dried lake bed in Utah – but you really wouldn't want to drive it to the shops. Not with an engine tuned for all-out power, no rear brakes and no interior trim.

Better by far to stick to the car you see here; demurely dressed up for its go-faster role in the Skoda stable with a special vRS front bumper, modest rear spoiler and red brake calipers glinting through the large alloy wheels. Looked good in the Daz white of the test car, though.

There's a similarly gentle reworking inside of the stock Octavia package, with grippier front seats and some scattered vRS badges to hint at the performance on tap.

Which is considerable, thanks to a tweaked and turbocharged petrol engine that deliciously combines the instant low speed pull of a good diesel with a very petrol-like ability to hang on to the revs when you're in the mood.

In fact, the Octavia vRS is a bit of a flier, covering ground at a rate that makes a glance at the speedo something of a surprise. Just as well it's easy to read (yes, officer I will check more carefully in future).

The transition from simple family transport to a sporty five seater is completed by a suspension set up just the right side of overly firm, at least on too many awful British roads.

Find a stretch of Tarmac that mimics what you'll commonly find on mainland Europe (remember, the Octavia was hatched in the Czech Republic) and it rides like a well controlled limo. A bit of bad British blacktop has the back end bucking a bit.

Even so, it's a car for reeling in the miles. Like everything from the Volkswagen Group (that takes in Audi and Seat too, remember) there's a sense that the designers behind the Octavia were serious about their work.

So you'll find no foibles or fripperies here. Instead, there's a pleasant solidity about the way everything works, from a cultured clunk as a door closes to the positive way everything you touch responds as though all the slack has been removed.

The asking price might look like a misprint but this roomy car (the boot's vast) is not lacking goodies to keep the price down, or not lacking many.

Standard fit includes big alloy wheels, dual climate control, an excellent sound system and cruise control. You'll have to pay an extra £305 for rear parking sensors, needed in a car this big with a spoiler-restricted rear view, and I'd find £75 to ditch the can of puncture repair gloop for a spacesaver tyre.

There's a diesel vRS available for a £960 premium. It's rather slower than the petrol model but decidedly more economical (I managed 36mpg in the petrol test car but might approach 50mpg in the diesel), but is simply less fun to drive.

And isn't that why you might buy the vRS in the first place?

NORTHAMPTON CHRONICLE & ECHO

education awards 2012

A term-time celebration of education PRESENTATION EVENING: TUESDAY 26 JUNE 2012

The Guildhall, Northampton 6.30-9pm

The Northampton Chronicle & Echo's term-time celebrates the outstanding work in our county's schools.

We want our readers, school heads, teachers, pupils and parents/guardians to nominate a special individual, a group of people or a school in one or more of the category options and tell us why you feel this person, group or school deserve the recognition and an award for their achievements.

A panel of education experts will decide on each of the category winners apart from the 'Unsung Hero' category where we will ask the readers of our newspaper to vote for their favourite 'Unsung Hero'*

CAMPBELL Thomas

Died February 11, 2012, aged 91.

Tom was born in N. Ireland on January 16, 1921, but moved to England at the beginning of WWII and worked for the War Agriculture Department for many years before joining Shenstone Engineering.
He was well known in the Far Cotton/Delapre area where he lived for the last 40 plus years.
Tom will be very much missed by his Daughter,
Shelagh of Houston, Texas, his surviving
Brothers and Sisters and many friends.

A Graveside Service only will be held at Towcester Road Cemetery at 11AM on Friday, February 24, 2012. In lieu of flowers a donation to a charity is suggested.

Died peacefully at home with those who loved her close at hand.

*We knew the time was coming
When you would have to leave,
We're happy now you're peaceful
That makes it easier to grieve.*

*We're sad that you are gone
But we're all content to know
You're on your final journey and it's
To Dad, Ben and Sam you go.*

*Soon you will lay with them
Your final wish fulfilled

LENNON
Marian

Treasured lifelong friend to Karen. Nothing can express the pain I feel now, we have shared everything together over the years, childhood games, teenage concerts and dances, our families, working together, laughter and tears. Then came the sadness of your illness and we travelled the journey together hand in hand, every step of the way towards God's bright light, but then I had to let you travel on alone. You fought with courage, dignity and faith. I watched you with sadness but admiration of a truly inspiring person and I was in awe of your constant zest for life.

Thank you for all the memories, God Bless, sleep in the arms of the Angels. Karen, Neil, Danny and Shannon

Died 21st February 2011

*You left a year ago,
the lights went out
I lost your glow
I've cried every tear, wished you were here
but I know you have gone.*

*I'll never hold you again walk beside you in the rain laugh, cry. Now just pain.
For I know you have gone.*

56 years went by in a blink hardly time to think how beautiful you were now I know you have gone.

*I thank God that I met you
I'll never forget you, for I love you....still though
I know you have gone forever.*

In memory of my darling girl from her devastated husband.

Training Co-ordinator – Research Programmes

£24,520 - £30,122 per annum

The Graduate School is an institution-wide development hub that works to provide leadership and professional support for academic schools in the pursuit of graduate education. The Graduate School has developed a strong reputation for the quality of its services and training provision. You will lead, develop, run and manage our training programmes for research degrees students and for early career research staff, sustaining our track record of excellence. You will work closely with internal and external stakeholders to ensure that the training programmes meet researchers' needs within the national and international context of researcher development.

Educated to degree standard and with a qualification in training and development, you will have excellent communication, presentation and group facilitation skills. You will also demonstrate a commitment to your own development. You should be IT literate, have excellent organisational skills and the ability to work well under pressure demonstrating a pro-active approach.

This post will require flexible working including evenings, occasional weekends and travel within the UK. Quote Ref: KS11036

For informal enquiries, please contact David Watson on (01604) 892812 or email: david.watson@northampton.ac.uk

For an information pack, please visit www.northampton.ac.uk/about/jobs or e-mail: per.apply@northampton.ac.uk. Alternatively, call the 24 hour answerphone on (01604) 892822.

Closing date: 24 February 2012.

Interview date: 9 March 2012.

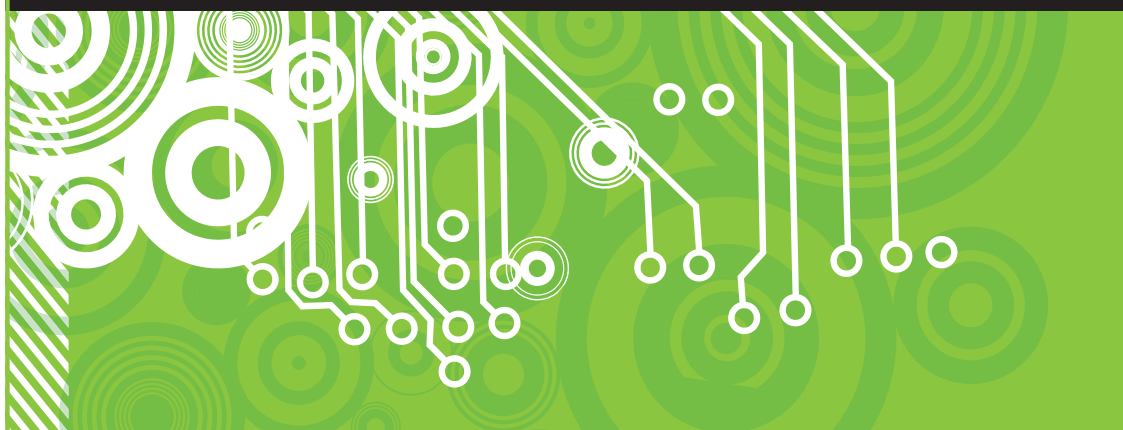

All candidates will be asked for proof of their eligibility to work in the UK at interview. Tier 2 Certificates of Sponsorship have recently been restricted by the UK Border Agency and the position advertised above is unlikely to qualify for sponsorship. We are therefore unable to consider applications from candidates requiring Tier 2 immigration status to work in the UK at this time. For further information please visit the UK Border Agency Website.

COMMUNICATIONS ASSISTANT PART-TIME (20 HOURS PER WEEK)

SATRA is an organisation with an impressive track record in providing technical services to some of the most prestigious names in consumer product industries. We are looking for an assistant for a varied role in our busy media and communications department. You will be working directly with trade press, as well as SATRA's own editors, designers and commercial managers, so you will need to be a confident, highly organised, self motivated team player with ability to work on own initiative. Good customer service skills are a must as the role also supports our advertising business in SATRA's own publications.

You will have the opportunity to assist with SATRA online and offline communications channels and materials.

A high proficiency of Microsoft Office, especially Excel, is required as well as good overall PC expertise. Publicity, marketing or advertising experience would be an advantage.

Salary dependent on experience.

CVs in the first instance via email; alternatively, please phone Nicola Mayne or access our website for an application form. Closing date for receipt of applications is 1st March 2012.

No agency or media enquiries please.

PDJ out to land a start

PAUL DORAN-JONES is hoping to get a starting spot for Saints to press his claims to be in the England side.

The Saints prop was called up as injury cover for David Wilson last week and is currently back in the England training camp as they prepare for Saturday's Twickenham clash with Wales.

Doran-Jones won three caps for England in 2009, and is part of the England Saxons squad this season.

The 26-year-old is desperate to regain a place in the England team and feels a starting role for Saints would be a step in the right direction, with tough trips to London Irish and Saracens coming up.

Doran-Jones has not started for Northampton since January 6 in the home Premiership win over Harlequins, with Brian Mujati being preferred.

But the former Gloucester prop said: "Hopefully there will be a start in there for me over the next couple of games, we will see how it is.

"Obviously I am hopeful of getting into the England team, but I am still only there as injury cover, so I am just holding a bag at the moment.

"It is good to be involved, but it is also good to come back here at Northampton and hopefully it doesn't affect my continuity."

Doran-Jones joined Northampton as a prop who can play on both sides of the scrum, but he has mainly appeared at tighthead this season.

His versatility could be an asset in forcing his way into the England 22, with Saracens' Matt Stevens the man on the bench behind starting props Dan Cole and Alex Corbisiero.

Doran-Jones is close to breaking through but knows starting for Saints over the next few games would really help.

Though being split with England duties means he has to work hard to keep his focus on Saints.

"Being away for the last couple of games it is about re-familiarising myself with what has changed at Northampton," said Doran-Jones.

"Learning what is new and just getting the game plan back in my head.

"I felt good out there on Saturday and it was good to be back at Franklin's Gardens, it feels like I haven't played there for ages."

Saints were 24-17 winners over Sale Sharks last weekend to go third in the Aviva Premiership table, and this Sunday they are back in league action when they travel to London Irish (ko 1.15pm).

England, who could field as many as six Saints players in their starting line-up, will be aiming to make it three wins out of three in the Six Nations when they entertain Wales at Twickenham (ko 4pm).

Aidy: 'We have to be better'

AIDY BOOTHROYD revealed he had "a bit of a moan" at his Cobblers players after Tuesday night's win over Macclesfield, despite it being the side's second win on the spin.

Town beat the Silkmen 3-2 which was enough to enhance their position at the foot of the npower League Two table, but did not lift them out of the bottom two.

Michael Jacobs, Luke Guttridge and Adebayo Akinfenwa got the goals that sank Macclesfield but it was an error-strewn display with a nervous finish, and one Boothroyd was not happy with.

"I had a bit of a moan at them after the game because we started so slowly," he said.

"We were like a boxer waiting to be punched before we retaliated.

"It was one of those games where you're never in any trouble – and I don't mean that disrespectfully – I just didn't think that we played very well.

"We allowed them into the game and when they score a goal like they did you start to think 'oh no, we've been here before'. Goal difference could be the difference between us finishing higher up the table and it was just a bit sloppy.

"I've had my say and today we start preparing for Port Vale."

Macclesfield got the nerves jangling for the home side by making the score 3-2 in the final minutes of the game, and debutant goalkeeper Matt Duke – signed on loan on Monday from Bradford City – was called upon to show safe hands on a couple of occasions after that as the visitors threw everything they had at Town.

They held on for the three points and although Boothroyd did not feel his side were ever likely to lose the game, he was not happy with general performance level.

"I know we're a little bit fragile and I know the crowd are quiet because they're not sure what they're going to get," he said.

"We didn't feel like we were in any danger but then you get to a stage where you start to concede sloppy goals. He should never have conceded those goals, they were very poor, and I think we could have scored a lot more than the three we did.

"I said after the Wimbledon game that we would play a lot worse than that and win and we did, in this game."

The Cobblers will be aiming to make it three home wins on the spin this Saturday when they entertain Port Vale at Sixfields (ko 3pm).

Admission to the Vale game is just £10 for adults and £5 for children, with some proceeds from the sales also going towards the Chron's and Cobblers' joint fundraising venture for the Macmillan appeal to fund a new blood cancer treatment unit at NGH.

SEE WHAT SOME OF OUR CUSTOMERS HAVE TO SAY ABOUT T&K SOLAR...

Mr & Mrs Sharp,
Yardley Gobion – Installation in Nov 2011

Dear Joanne. We are delighted with all aspects of our recent Solar PV installation and wish to thank you for your help and that of all your involved colleagues in hitting the target set by the changed (and now challenged) feed-in-tariff regulations. We recommend unreservedly anyone contemplating such an installation to use T&K Solar PV. We are sure that they will find your service straightforward and efficient.

Best regards, Robin and Jane Sharp

Mr & Mrs Louch,
Installed in November 2011

We, along with our daughter and son-in-law, and son and daughter-in-law had decided to have Solar Panels installed, so arranged a visit from T&K salesman Shaun, to arrange. T&K were able to complete all three contracts in time, and on the dates advised. I know that this meant all behind the scenes working very hard on our, and other customers behalf, and the team working very long and unsociable hours. Indeed, the solar panels on our roof were fitted by floodlight. A great conclusion.

Thank-you. Marie Louch

Mr & Mrs Yates,
Northampton – Installation in August 2011

To all at T&K, Thank you for all of your help to get our installation completed insuch a short space of time. The scaffolders were great and left everything so clean and tidy and the guys who installed the panels were fantastic. Alan was especially helpful. Also a big thanks to Terry who is there for everything you need and to John for his help with our queries.
